Trail Boss Letter

Yetta Hey!

March was such a great month of events with our Monsters Game and Father Daughter Dance. Everyone had a great time. Congrats to Edith Thompson for cleaning house by winning both the hula hoop and limbo contests at the dance!

We ended the month with our annual Cardboard Boat Regatta. There were some great boat designs, some of which floated, and some unfortunately that didn't. Congrats to all our race winners that day!

Looking ahead to April, we start it off with our Easter Party April 7th. Looking forward to this great event. If you registered for the event, pinewood derby cars will be available for sale at the event. (1) kit for $10, (2) for $15. Don't forget to nominate someone in your outpost to get a free car kit to challenge the Trailboss in the Dad's race. The Pinewood Derby is April 28th at the North Royalton YMCA. Take note that our Movie Night on April 20th has been postponed. We will keep you updated with new information for that rescheduled event.

May events include the heritage event at the Sailors & Soldiers Monument on May 4th. Spring Camp will be May 24-26th at Camp Kon-o-Kwee Spencer. Register now online!

Finally, thank you to all of those that volunteered to help out at the Adventure Guides annual Night at the Races fundraiser on March 9th. It was a very successful fundraiser! Speaking of fundraisers, the Adventure Princess Golf Outing fundraiser is August 17th at Mallard Creek Golf Course. Start forming your foursomes for this great event and register online. See the flyer for more information. We need everyone's support as this is our one and only fundraiser to help reduce costs for events and camps throughout the year..

"Gather 'round" for a tale from your Storyteller

The Winter Spirit and His Visitor

Peboan and Seegwun is a Chippewa allegory.

An old man was sitting alone in his lodge by the side of a frozen stream. It was the close of winter, and his fire was almost out. He appeared very old and very desolate. His hair was white with age, and he trembled in every joint. Day after day passed in solitude, and he heard nothing but the sounds of the storm, sweeping before it the new-fallen snow.

One day as his fire was just dying, a handsome young man approached and entered his dwelling. His cheeks were red with the blood of youth; his eyes sparkled with life, and a smile played upon his lips. He walked with a light and quick step. His forehead was bound with a wreath of sweet grass, in place of the warrior's frontlet, and he carried a bunch of flowers in his hand.

"Ah! my son," said the old man, "I am happy to see you. Come in. Come, tell me of your adventures, and what strange lands you have been to see. Let us pass the night together. I will tell you of my prowess and exploits, and what I can perform. You shall do the same, and we will amuse ourselves."

He then drew from his sack a curiously-wrought antique pipe and he handed it to his guest. When this ceremony was attended to, they began to speak.

"I blow my breath," said the old man, "and the streams stand still. The water becomes stiff and hard as clear stone."

"I breathe," said the young man, "and flowers spring up all over the plains."

"I shake my hair," retorted the old man, "and snow covers the land. The leaves fall from the trees at my command, and my breath blows them away. The birds rise from the water and fly to a distant land. The animals hide themselves from the glance of my eye, and the very ground where I walk becomes as hard as flint."

"I shake my ringlets," rejoined the young man, "and warm showers of soft rain fall upon the earth. The plants lift up their heads out of the ground like the eyes of children glistening with delight. My voice recalls the birds. The warmth of my breath unlocks the streams. Music fills the groves wherever I walk, and all nature welcomes my approach."

At length the sun begun to rise. A gentle warmth came over the place. The tongue of the old man became silent. The robin and the blue-bird began to sing on the top of the lodge. The stream began to murmur by the door, and the fragrance of growing herbs and flowers came softly on the breeze.

Daylight fully revealed to the young man the character of his entertainer. When he looked upon him he had the visage of Peboan, the icy old Winter-Spirit. Streams began to flow from his eyes. As the sun increased he grew less and less in stature, and presently he had melted completely away. Nothing remained on the place of his lodge-fire but the miskodeed, a small white flower with a pink border, which the young visitor, Seegwun, the Spirit of Spring, placed in the wreath upon his brow, as his first trophy in the North.

Our Lesson:

The cold and harsh winter doesn't last forever and our reward for enduring it is the warmth of Spring, the return of the birds, and the beautiful flowers. There is always a light at the end of the tunnel, you just need to make it to the other side.

Hey Dads, too busy to be an Adventure Princess Officer but still want to help out?

Pitch in as a Trail Hand when the organization needs a little extra help.

Trail Hands are dads who volunteer to help out at a Frontier event. They support the event OIC (Officer In Charge) as needed. Acting as a Trail Hand is a great way to learn how the organization operates, help a fellow dad, and display the act of volunteering to your daughter.

Contact Trail Boss or Assistant Trail Boss if you are interested.
